

CS352 Homework 0 (Due 11:59pm, January 16th, on GradeScope)

Please read the following academic honesty policy before submitting a hand-signed copy on GradeScope (under hw0). A signature can be drawn directly on the downloaded file or a printed hard copy for scanning. Do not use a certified digital signature. Remember to also fill your name clearly in the designated box. Submission before the due time earns bonus points. Very late submission (past a final reminder on Brightspace) will receive a grade penalty. (See syllabus for details.) No course work will be graded for the student until a signed form is submitted on GradeScope. Therefore, if the student disagrees with any of the rules, please write down the concern and submit it as hw0 to replace the signed form. The instructor will address the concern with the student promptly.

I have read the attached academic honesty policy and agree to its terms.

Course-specific Academic Honesty Rules

Unless specified otherwise explicitly in the specific handout, all assignments, quizzes/exams, and projects must be completed by each student independently. Copying from others' work (from any current and past Purdue students or from external sources such as the internet) is a violation of the policy.

Students are encouraged to discuss course materials in a general way, but such discussions must not get to the level of detailed steps in the solution of the given assignment such that both submissions resemble each other to the degree that is deemed by the teaching staff as highly noncoincidental and highly unreasonable. Any doubt with our rules must be clarified with the teaching staff in advance on Ed Discussion

It is also the student's responsibility to guard his/her coursework against potential copying or theft by other people. If two students are found to have submitted coursework that is recognized as essentially the same, then both are found to commit an offense and the same penalty (see below) will be applied to the students. If, however, one of them claims total ignorance of how the duplication happens, then an intellectual property theft case will be reported to Purdue authority, with the claimed victim reported as a key witness. This may result in having the offender expelled from the university. Students are not allowed to copy any part of other students' electronic editing/drawing in the homework. Such copying, even if just limited to one problem in the assignment, will be treated as plagiarism.

In the first six weeks of the semester, a first offense of any academic honesty rule committed by a student will receive a penalty in one of the following forms, depending on the severity of the offense: (i) a zero point for the specific assignment, (ii) an automatic reduction of the final letter grade by a full grade, e.g. A to B, B to C, etc., and (iii) failing the course. Multiple (i.e., two or more) offenses will automatically result in failing the course. Any offense committed after the first six weeks will automatically result in an F in this course. These two phases are intended to give students sufficient time to discuss and fully understand the academic honesty rules. Any dispute with the penalty will be handled by OSRR (Office of Student Rights and Responsibility) after the teaching staff submit a report to OSRR.
